

SIMULATION GAME

GET LEAN

DESCRIPTION OF THE TRAINING TOOL

GETLean

PREPARED BY Sabat Consulting
www.getlean.pl

GET LEAN" - Transformation Through Learning and Practice

In a rapidly changing business world where efficiency and speed are the currencies of success, GET LEAN is an innovative tool that transforms Lean Management principles into tangible skills. This interactive simulation game is designed to make employees true change agents through a deep understanding and implementation of lean management principles. Each element of the game is designed to reflect real-world challenges and allow participants to experiment with these concepts in a controlled manufacturing process environment

Understanding Lean through Experience

The GET LEAN game offers a unique approach to learning by simulating realistic manufacturing scenarios. Participants take on a variety of worker and managerial roles over the course of 6 sessions, dabbling in various aspects of management, from 5S workstation organisation, Kanban delivery, one-piece flow, cellular manufacturing, Kaizen philosophy and visual management. Participants in the GET LEAN game learn how they can use such tools to improve process efficiency and reduce production costs at the same time.

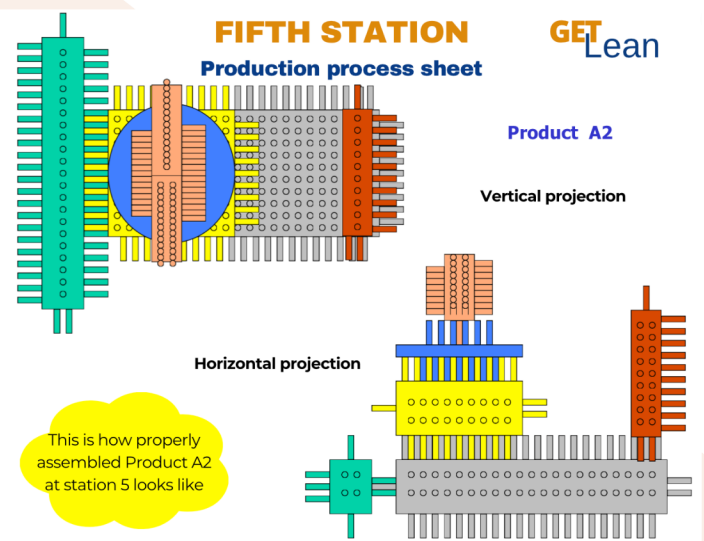

Interactive Manufacturing Process Simulation

GET LEAN is a simulation of the manufacturing process of a variety of products with multiple participants who transform theory into practice. The game is divided into six sessions, the first of which aims to make participants aware of the losses that occur in traditional methods of organising production. Subsequent sessions draw players into the process of identifying problem areas, developing solutions and implementing changes in the spirit of Lean Management

Education Through Experimentation

Traditional teaching methods are often limited to imparting knowledge, but real learning is about transforming knowledge into practical experiences and skills used in everyday life. GET LEAN takes learning to the next level. GET LEAN is more than a game - it is a comprehensive training that combines theory and practice, allowing participants to see the consequences of their actions in a safe, controlled environment. The game helps break down barriers of resistance to change by demonstrating the benefits of Lean in a practical way. The simulation also reinforces the belief in participants that all changes in a company must come from logical transformations, improvements and team collaboration.

GET LEAN" is a Comprehensive Training Solution

By purchasing a GET LEAN licence, a company receives the right to unlimited use of the game within its organisation. There is no additional charge for repeated use, allowing you to repeat sessions and improve your Lean strategies at no additional cost.

The package offered includes:

- A set of colourful plastic 'hedgehog' blocks
- Full role descriptions for participants and process sheets for operators and quality control,
- A PowerPoint presentation introducing the concepts of Lean Management and explaining the principles of the simulation game,
- Detailed instructions on how to prepare the room, set up the tables, arrange the products for each station and the different game scenarios,
- Individual order schedules for each of the six sessions,
- A sheet for analysing production costs,
- Sheet for stock orders of finished products for the six sessions.
- Flash drive containing electronic versions of the documents in PDF format.

Understanding Lean through Experience

The GET LEAN game takes into account ease of use and accessibility for the facilitators. The game has been designed in such a way that people without much experience in Lean Manufacturing or in simulations can run it without difficulty. As a result, any trainer or manager can effectively use the game to educate a team, regardless of their previous experience.

Immeasurable Benefits

The GET LEAN game is not only about learning and developing skills, but also a platform for team building, fostering integration and communication between employees. It is an investment that translates into improved morale, increased productivity and ultimately - increased customer satisfaction.

Join the Leadership Group

Join the ranks of leading companies that are already using GET LEAN to develop their teams. Get your licence and start transforming your business with Lean principles.

Gain a competitive advantage with GET LEAN. The game is available at www.getlean.pl in seven languages. Contact us for more information and start your journey towards operational excellence.

